CHAPTER FIVE

A thirst for life and experience

While drawn towards the future and its promise, young people also have a powerful desire to experience the present moment, to make the most of the opportunities life offers. Our world is filled with beauty! How can we look down upon God's many gifts?

Contrary to what many people think, the Lord does not want to stifle these desires for a fulfilling life. We do well to remember the words of an Old Testament sage: "My child, treat yourself well, according to your means, and present your offerings to the Lord; do not deprive yourself of a day's enjoyment, do not let your share of desired good pass by" (Sir 14:11-14). The true God, who loves you, wants you to be happy. For this reason, the Bible also contains this piece of advice to young people: "Rejoice, young man, while you are young, and let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth... banish anxiety from your mind" (Ec 11:9-10). For God "richly provides us with everything for our enjoyment" (1 Tim 6:17).

How could God take pleasure in someone incapable of enjoying his small everyday blessings, someone blind to the simple pleasures we find all around us? "No one is worse than one who is grudging to himself" (Sir 14:6). Far from obsessively seeking new pleasures, which would keep us from making the most of the present moment, we are asked to open our eyes and take a moment to experience fully and with gratitude every one of life's little gifts.

Clearly, God's word asks you to enjoy the present, not simply to prepare for the future: "Do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will bring worries of its own; today's trouble is enough for today" (Mt 6:34). But this is not the same as embarking irresponsibly on a life of dissipation that can only leave us empty and perpetually dissatisfied. Rather, it is about living the present to the full, spending our energies on good things, cultivating fraternity, following Jesus and making the most of life's little joys as gifts of God's love.

Cardinal Francis Xavier Nguyễn Văn Thuận, when imprisoned in a concentration camp, refused to do nothing but await the day when he would be set free. He chose "to live the present moment, filling it to the brim with love". He decided: "I will seize the occasions that present themselves every day; I will accomplish ordinary actions in an extraordinary way".[78] As you work to achieve your dreams, make the most of each day and do your best to let each moment brim with love. This youthful day may well be your last, and so it is worth the effort to live it as enthusiastically and fully as possible.

This can also be applied to times of difficulty, that have to be fully experienced if we are to learn the message they can teach us. In the words of the Swiss Bishops: "God is there where we thought he had abandoned us and there was no further hope of salvation. It is a paradox, but for many Christians, suffering and darkness have become... places of encounter with God".[79] The desire to live fully and experience new things is also felt by many young people with physical, mental and sensory disabilities. Even though they may not always be able to have the same experiences as others, they possess amazing resources and abilities that are often far above average. The Lord Jesus grants them other gifts, which the community is called to recognize and appreciate, so that they can discover his plan of love for each of them.{Pope Francis, apostolic exhortation, CHRISTUS VIVIT —to the young people and the entire people of God}

FROM FR. HENRY DUC

Recently I happened to read a lovely story written by a priest sharing his personal experience as a nurse during his pre-seminary time, starting from his involvement with the birthing of a young single mother, leading him to become the godparent of her baby, and the celebrant of her marriage later on as a priest, and then introducing her three other children to a nun, who was able to help provide them with good education and a stable life. It is such a productive birth, for it helps to connect people together and bring forth more amazing relationships.

In the Gospel this week, the evangelist tells us of the nativity of Jesus, the most amazing birth of all, for it is able to help connect our human family together, and more significantly our human family with God.

In typical Matthew language, the writer of the Gospel used his popular formula this nativity 'took place to fulfill the words spoken by the Lord through the prophet' to highlight the divine identity of Jesus, who was given to birth by the Virgin Mary. His birth was no ordinary, but a perfect fulfilment of what the prophet Isaiah foretold so many years before that, 'a virgin will conceive and give birth to a son, and they will call him Emmanuel', (cf. Isa 7.14).

Today, let us give praise and thanks for, and reflect upon the birth of Jesus, the Emmanuel, the 'God-is-with-us', a super special one, for it bestows on us the grace to keep us, those who follow him, together as a family through the bond of faith, hope and love, and also to allow us to step into the divine world.

In the spirit of thanksgiving I would like to wish everyone a merry Christmas and a happy New Year filled with the constant care of protection of the Emmanuel.

Have a thankful week.

Fr. Henry

ADVENT WREATH It is usually constructed around a circular based as you can see ours. This circular base is traditionally taken to symbolize the ever-renewing cycle of the seasons, and the four candles, of course, represents the four Sundays of Advent.

The fourth candle, the "Candle of Love," reminds Christians that God loves them enough to send his only Son to Earth...

LEGION OF MARY: No meeting 26th December and 2nd January. Meetings will recommence Thursday 9th January 2020 1.30pm. All welcome.

"The Two Popes" - For a very human and enlightening account of Pope Benedict's historic resignation and the background and election of Jorge Bergoglio as Pope Francis, you can catch the movie "The Two Popes" currently showing at the Dendy Cinema at Circular Quay. I really enjoyed the homely scene in the papal apartment where they are watching TV together when Germany and Argentina are playing the World Cup final. Anthony Hopkins is brilliant as Pope Benedict. A delightful version of history about two remarkable men not to be missed. (Adrian Walker)

PIETY SHOP: Come and have a look what's new at the Piety Shop—Last minute gift ideas.

Nativity sets and Christmas cards to spread the Spirit of Christmas are now available from the piety shop at the back of the church.

POSITIONS VACANT

More VOLUNTEERS are also needed for the Piety Shop. Please contact the Parish Office if you are able assist. Thank you to all those currently helping on the roster.

CHILDREN'S LITURGY OF THE WORD takes place within the 9:30am Sunday Mass (2nd and 3rd Sunday of the month) All children of primary school age are invited to attend. We ask that pre-school children remain in the church with their parents.

The Children's Liturgy is not a catechetical class nor Sunday school. It is a celebration of the Word of God at a level appropriate for young children. They listen to the Gospel reading of the Sunday and share prayers and reflections. The children leave the church after the Opening Prayer and return at the Preparation of the Gifts. The Children's Liturgy is held in the Parish Meeting Room. The Children's Liturgy would not be possible without the help of the adult leaders. We thank the leaders and helpers. If anyone would like to become involved as a leader or helper, please contact Alison in the parish office on 96222920 or email alisoni@olol7hills.com.au
